

CSP GUIDELINES

TONGAAT HULETT Developments approach to CSP is to fund projects in communities neighbouring our development areas and those projects that best leverage development objectives. The nature of TONGAAT HULETT Development's business is such that the company deals directly and is wholly dependent on different government and quasi-government departments and organisations for property development rights. Therefore alignment with government thinking and programmes is the core of TONGAAT HULETT Developments' business sustainability.

To this effect, TONGAAT HULETT Developments approaches CSI from a partnership paradigm which suggest that before investing, Tongaat Hulett Developments first engage with community and its leadership to understand what their priorities are and how best to add value. Corporate Social Partnership initiatives are developed with communities where Tongaat Hulett Developments has current or potential developments.

Tongaatt Hulett Developments has adopted a Social Corporate Partnership (instead of investment) philosophy to forge integrated partnerships to engage with social stakeholders, such as government, communities, politicians as well as special interest groups on issues of social development challenges and priorities.

CSP will focus on integrating each development project into the immediate environment where it is located. Development areas will be clustered into zones.
